Italy Warns a Naval Blockade Will Result in War

BULLETIN
Italian General Headquarters in Northern Ethiopia, Oct. 10.—(Exchange Telegraph)—It was announced today that the Ethiopians have lost 2,500 dead in the last eight days while the Italian losses were placed at two officers killed and 100 officers and men wounded.

The Italian announcement also said 600 Ethiopians have been made prisoners since the Italian push into Ethiopia began.

BULLETIN
Geneva, Oct. 10.—(AP)—An Italian spokesman told The Associated Press today any naval blockade against Italy means war.

The spokesman said the Italian delegation probably would leave Geneva tomorrow, although still awaiting orders.

Discussing the possibility that an ineffective economic boycott might lead to a blockade to make sanctions really effective, he said

DISEASE KILLING MANY.
Halifax, N. S., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Italian soldiers are dying "like flies" of tropical Africa, Captain John Smith, master of the motorship Oriente, said today upon his arrival from the Far East.

The disease has blinded hundreds of others, he added, and shiploads of fever victims have been sent back to Italy incapacitated.

Captain Smith said he saw the returning fever casualties as he came through the Mediterranean.

From doctors at Port Said and Massua, point of embarkation for the Roman legions, in full health in the morning he said he learned that men died of the fever that afternoon.

Some of the diseases have not been identified by the Italian medical corps, he related.

the Italian people do not fear economic sanctions because Italy counts on getting its necessities from Germany through Austria. He added oil can be obtained "from some other nation" which can send it to Italy through Germany.

TO APPLY SANCTIONS
Geneva, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The League of Nations, with at least 50 of its 59 members definitely on record as approving the punishment of Italy for its invasion on Ethiopia moved today for a quick application of that punishment.

The steering committee of the league assembly decided that representatives of every member of the league except Italy and Ethiopia should serve on a committee to coordinate the work of the council and the assembly in instituting sanctions against Italy.

Since Germany will leave the league Oct. 21, the decision means that the coordination commission will be made up of 56 nations.

At a morning meeting, the assembly gave its overwhelming approval

Hits Rock Garden

Milwaukee, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Rock Gardens, in addition to making the home beautiful, the American Public Health Association was told today, may make it unhealthy.

"The craze for these gardens is causing an increase in malaria," said Dr. M. Fernan-Nunez, of the Marquette University medical school, Milwaukee. Dr. Fernan-Nunez, who took convention honors with his tropical diseases exhibit, said "exotic" diseases are being disseminated in the United States by widespread travel and rapid transportation.

JUDGE SHEEAN'S RITES WILL BE HELD SATURDAY

Popular Circuit Judge Passed Away Late Wednesday P. M.

Circuit Judge Frank T. Sheean, 57, of Galena, prominent member of the Jo Daviess county bar and a Democratic leader in northern Illinois for many years, died at Mercy hospital in Dubuque, Ia., at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon after an illness of several weeks' duration, during which he submitted to three major operations, the last one Oct. 1, following which he sank steadily until his death. The members of his family were at his bedside when his life ebbed away.

Work Office in 1933
Mr. Sheean assumed office as judge of the Fifteenth judicial circuit, comprising the counties of Lee, Ogles, Stephenson, Carroll and Jo Daviess, June 15, 1933, after resigning his position as state attorney of Jo Daviess county. He had served as state's attorney from 1908 to 1916, and was re-elected to that office in 1932.

Born in Galena in April, 1878, Judge Sheean attended the University of Illinois, where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Upon his graduation he became associated with his father in the practice of law in Galena, and was admitted to the bar in 1902.

Prominent in Jo Daviess county politics for many years, he served as chairman of the county exemption board during the World War. He was a delegate to the Democratic National conventions of 1924, 1928 and 1932, and in the latter year aided in drafting the party's national platform.

At various times he held the offices of president of the Galena board of education, president of the Galena Fair association and president of the Galena Golf club, which owes a large measure of its success as an organization to his efforts.

Native of Galena
Judge Sheean had won the highest respect of those with whom he was associated during his many years as a member of the bar, and was one of Galena's leading citizens.

CONFESSION MIGHT SAVE BRUNO'S LIFE

New York Paper Says Hauptmann Could Escape Chair

BULLETIN
Chicago, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Prosecutors promised to prove today that Mandeville W. Zenge, young Missouri farmer, admitted he performed the mutilation operation which cost the life of his rival in love, Dr. Walter John Bauer, college instructor.

This admission, Assistant State's Attorney Charles Dougherty said in outlining his case, will be related by the state's star witness, William Leinert, a taxi-cab driver.

New York, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The New York Evening Journal in a copyrighted story from Trenton, N. J., said today that Bruno Richard Hauptmann might yet save himself from the electric chair by confessing to the kidnap-murder of the Lindbergh baby. The Journal said that "one of New Jersey's most powerful officers" had pledged this assurance.

The Journal story was in the form of a letter to Hauptmann, whose conviction for the murder of the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was upheld yesterday by the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals.

"Bruno Richard Hauptmann," the paper told the Bronx carpenter, "you may yet save yourself from the electric chair and earn $10,000 for your confession and the name

MUST SET NEW DATE
Trenton, N. J., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Legal observers said today Bruno Richard Hauptmann—unless he wins his last few appeal moves—will die in the electric chair late in November or early in December. From 10 to 15 days will elapse before the record in the case is sent back to Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, who will set a new date for carrying out the death sentence he imposed last February.

Justice Trenchard must fix a date not less than four weeks nor more than eight from the time he receives the record.

of your accomplice in the kidnaping and murder of the Lindbergh baby.

Claims Officer's Pledge
"One of New Jersey's most powerful officers has pledged his solemn word to the Evening Journal that he will save you."

"He has vowed he will pay you or your wife and child this sum from his personal fortune and will guarantee that you need not follow the searing path of the four men you have seen led and carried through that squat, green, steel door separating you from life and death."

"Life imprisonment will be your reward," the paper told him, "with the invaluable opportunity of seeing your wife often and watching your son grow to manhood, and knowing that they will not be left destitute."

START NEW DRIVE
Trenton, N. J., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's attorneys started a new drive today to save the convicted Lindbergh baby killer from the electric chair—this time through appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The defense counsel appeared hopeful despite the flat rejection yesterday by the Court of Errors and Appeals, New Jersey's highest tribunal, of their plea for a reversal of Hauptmann's conviction.

They decided to meet today or tomorrow to draft the first steps in their new campaign.

Hauptmann remained in his cell in the death house of the state prison, awaiting the promised visit of his wife, Anna, for their tenth wedding anniversary today.

"My God, what a fine anniversary present for Anna," Hauptmann said of the decision.

Lost Some of His Calm
He had lost some of the calm that has marked his bearing since his arrest in New York's Bronx over a year ago. Prison officials said he did not eat his regular meal last night and appeared "slightly nervous but not noticeably upset."

C. Lloyd Fisher, one of his attorneys, broke the news to him shortly after the opinion was rendered.

ASSOCIATE OF GANGSTERS IS HELD MURDERER

Edwardsville, Ill., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Dale Stamper, former associate of Shelton gangsters, and his wife, Goldie, were convicted today of the murder of Ralph Fulcham during a bootleggers' war four years ago, and sentenced to 19 years' imprisonment each.

"Has a man no right to say something for himself," Stamper exclaimed as the verdict was read. He did not take the stand in his own defense.

Circuit Judge A. D. Reiss told him his attorneys would have an opportunity to speak for him later.

Stamper and his wife were jointly charged with the killing of Fulcham, found shot to death on a lonely road. Police said the slaying was the outgrowth of a quarrel over a liquor deal.

The jury retired last night without reaching a verdict after Mrs. Stamper had testified in her own defense.

Mrs. Stamper testified that Fulcham and another man went to her home the night of the killing and threatened to take her husband "for a ride."

She said she went for aid and returned with the late James Hickey, Shelton gangster, and a companion. After an argument, she said, the four men drove away in two automobiles.

MILK 'STRIKE' AT STAGE OF ARMED CAMPS

600 Armed Guards in Attempt to Keep Highways Open

BULLETIN.
Chicago, Oct. 10.—(AP)—U. S. Deputy Marshalls were assigned today to guard every bridge on the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad lines through the Chicago milk shed. There are about twenty-five such bridges.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Farm warfare in the Chicago milkshed "strike" reached the armed camp stage today.

After an all-night vigil in the open, farmer-pickets and their foes, "flying squadrons" of guards from the Pure Milk Association, remained camped in adjoining fields at Harvard, McHenry county, "hot spot" of the "strike."

The strikers were ready to repulse an expected effort to rush through milk shipments heretofore crippled, the sheriff's office reported. The "campers" had sent out for sandwiches, taken as an indication the respective positions would be held through the day.

The "defenders" in the strike flung a small army, estimated to number 1,000 men or more, over highways of three states to keep open milk routes to the city.

Six hundred armed guards made up the "flying squadrons," scattered over roads of Illinois, western Indiana and southern Wisconsin, PMA officials said.

An independent peace move was launched, meantime, by the Borden Farm Products Company of Illinois. The firm offered farmers of the Woodstock and Hebron locals of the PMA a flat price of $1.65 a hundredweight "without dealing through the PMA." Counting the check-off levied by the PMA, this would mean a price increase of 22 cents, it was explained. The offer was debated by the strikers.

Attempts of Mayor Kelly to bring about a truce in the strike, now perilously near to open guerrilla warfare, ended in failure after midnight last night.

After the rejection Tuesday by the striking dairymen of Gov. Horner's 30 day truce proposal to permit an impartial survey, Mayor Kelly and Health Commissioner Herman N. Bundesen conferred with a committee of 15 representing the strikers in an unsuccessful attempt to bring about peace.

The mayor said after the meeting the problems involved in the controversy were too complicated to be settled at one conference, but expressed the hope that some solution might be reached soon.

Meanwhile the city's milk supply remained threatened by the presence of highway pickets, despite the orders of Horner that the milk lanes must be kept open.

The governor has maintained that the county law enforcement agencies were adequate to cope with the situation, but violence of blocked highways and milk dumping by pickets continued.

Threats of guerrilla warfare between the factions of the Pure Milk Association which claims 18,000 members and is opposed to the strike and the United Farmers of Illinois, claiming 15,000 members supporting it, continued.

After 45,000 pounds of milk were dumped near McHenry, Ill., yesterday officials of the PMA said that armed bands of nonstriking members would convoy future shipments.

Federal court Judge John P. Barnes in denying an injunction against the pickets yesterday, said the strike was an "insurrection" and an "open rebellion against authority."

"Trucks have been destroyed, milk is being dumped," he said. "These are offenses against the state and should be prevented by the police power of the state, and, if this is impossible, by the militia."

Interest in the strike was not confined to the farmers of Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana, the Chicago milkshed group. The Ohio farmers' union at Lima, unanimously adopted a resolution supporting the Chicago strikers. In Yankton, S. D., Milo Reno, president of the Farm Holiday Association, and E. H. Everson, president of the Farmers' Union, pledged 100 per cent support of their organizations.

Herman Juris, a farmer, was shot but not seriously wounded near Belvidere, Ill., yesterday where pickets attempted to seize several trucks loaded with milk.

MRS. ROBINSON COLLAPSED ON WITNESS STAND

Wife of Alleged Stoll Kidnaper Tells of Husband's Life

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances A. Robinson, collapsed on the witness stand today while under cross examination by government counsel in the Stoll kidnaping trial.

On trial jointly with her father-in-law, Thomas H. Robinson, Sr., for complicity in the $50,000 kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Sped Stoll here a year ago today, Mrs. Robinson had given a detailed account of her life with Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., who is hunted as the kidnaper. Shortly after their marriage, she said, he shot and wounded her. She also testified he had been in an insane asylum for a time.

Assistant District Attorney Oldham Clark was cross questioning her as to why she went to Chicago with her husband prior to the kidnaping when she slumped back in the witness chair.

Unable to Proceed.
"I can't say," she said in tears. For a time she was unable to proceed with her testimony.

Judge Elwood Hamilton asked her if there was something she was unable to tell or something she did not wish to tell.

"Well, judge, I'll tell you—" she began, but counsel demanded that she address the jury. Again she wept.

"I always wanted to give my husband a decent chance even if he was mean to me," she said tearfully.

Government counsel suggested a recess but Judge Hamilton said he did not think it was necessary. The witness became more composed and asked again why she went to Chicago, she said she did not know but that her husband used to choke her.

Confessed Murderer of Sweetheart Given Life Imprisonment

Harrisburg, Ill., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Steven Worsham of Sullivan, Ill., faced a life sentence in prison today for the murder of Mrs. Estelle Hampton, Murphysboro, his former sweetheart.

Judge D. F. Runy sent Worsham yesterday after he had pleaded guilty to shooting Mrs. Hampton, bride of a few days, last June 13 while in a jealous rage.

Worsham is a member of a well known Sullivan family. The girl whom he had courted, married Monroe Hampton of Herrin June 8.

Worsham told police that when he learned of the marriage he drove to Murphysboro, where Mrs. Hampton was visiting a sister, called her to the curb and shot her. He later surrendered.

His cries could be heard for some distance until they were extinguished. Frank, who appeared to be the worst injured, was placed in an automobile and rushed to the Harris hospital at Mendota. Arriving at the institution, he insisted upon walking from the car to the room, and while attendants were removing his clothing, he expired. Paul, who suffered severe internal injuries, could not be removed from the scene for about 30 minutes, on account of severe

FRANK STRUNK FATALY HURT LAST EVENING

Brother Also Crushed Between Two Heavy Motor Machines

Frank Strunk, aged 35, residing in West Brooklyn, where he is engaged in the grading of the Brooklyn spur highway, died at the Harris hospital in Mendota last evening shortly after 6 o'clock of injuries incurred when he was caught between two 10 ton caterpillar tractors and his head terribly crushed. His younger brother Paul, 25, is in the Harris hospital at Mendota today, in a critical condition, suffering from internal injuries.

The unusual accident occurred about 5:30 last evening on the William Untz property at the north limits of West Brooklyn, where the grading equipment of the Strunk brothers has been stored during the grading operations on the West Brooklyn spur. The Strunk brothers of Tiskilwa have the sub-contract for the grading operation. The paving contract was awarded to Charles O'Brien & Son of Morris, Ill.

Frank and Paul Strunk operated one of the large ten ton caterpillar tractors which was being used in the final grading operations on the one-mile stretch of highway leading north from the village. About 5:30, quitting time for the workers, they took their tractors into the Untz yard, shut off the motor and were greasing and inspecting the machine. Shortly afterward, Roy Soldwedel of Morris, Ill., craneman for the O'Brien firm, who was operating another large caterpillar tractor yesterday, drove into the yard with his tractor. The heavy machine was headed directly toward the one on which the Strunk brothers were working. Frank was unable to park side by side, but when Soldwedel attempted to turn out, he discovered that the steering mechanism would not function.

Head Badly Mangled
Calling to the Strunk brothers, Soldwedel made every effort to prevent a crash of the two heavy machines and in so doing bent the steering apparatus on the tractor he was operating. Failing in his attempt, the second tractor, which he was driving, crashed into the one on which the two Strunk brothers were working. Frank was on the ground greasing the rear mechanism of the parked tractor and Soldwedel's warning cries caused him to rise. The oncoming tractor struck him in the head, tearing away one side of his face and a heavy bolt pierced the skull at the forehead.

Paul, his younger brother was unable to leap to safety and was likewise caught between the two machines. When the tractors crashed, the motor of the second died and the two brothers were pinned between the tractors for almost five minutes, before the motors could be started again by other workmen who were summoned to the scene.

Walked Into Hospital
Their cries could be heard for some distance until they were extinguished. Frank, who appeared to be the worst injured, was placed in an automobile and rushed to the Harris hospital at Mendota. Arriving at the institution, he insisted upon walking from the car to the room, and while attendants were removing his clothing, he expired. Paul, who suffered severe internal injuries, could not be removed from the scene for about 30 minutes, on account of severe

Mark of Finger Nail on Young Girl's Throat and Unlatched Door Only Clues to Her Murder

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Mystery surrounded today the slaying of Muriel Hall, pretty 18-year-old high school girl, who was strangled to death in the living room of her home in a fashionable residence district.

With the unmistakable mark of a fingernail on her slender neck and an unlatched door as clues, police were questioning friends and schoolmates of the girl in the hope that they might find some motive for the slaying.

The girl was found dead by her foster father, Leonard I. Hall, manufacturing company executive, when he returned home from his office last evening.

She wore the same light brown dress in which she had returned from school only two hours before. No sign of a struggle was apparent in the four-room apartment which Hall and the girl occupied on the third floor of the residence of H. Hewes Sullivan, prominent business man.

Coroner David H. Atwater performed an autopsy.

"Death by strangulation at the hands of a person or persons unknown," was his verdict.

Police, who at first believed the girl had committed suicide or died a natural death, launched a search for the slayer.

Gets Citation of Bravery Seventeen Years After Fight

Grafton, Ill., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Seventeen years after he, a gunnery sergeant, assumed command of a machine gun platoon and led it into the battle of St. Mihiel, Ray Morgan, city alderman here, finally received a distinguished conduct citation from the government.

Sergeant Morgan, with Company D of the 14th Machine Gun battalion, advanced to St. Mihiel the day before the major drive, but as the zero hour approached the commanding officers could not be found. He and a lieutenant divided the troops into platoons and forced a relentless five-mile retreat upon German soldiers.

Recently Morgan applied for a Purple Heart medal, awarded all veterans wounded in combat, and received in reply the medal, the distinguished conduct citation and a silver star citation medal. The citation was made shortly after the battle of St. Mihiel but Morgan, in a base hospital, was not advised.

to the council's condemnation of Italy.

Only Three Object

Only Italy, Austria and Hungary announced non-acceptance of the council's report against Italy, although in league circles it was suggested that Albania probably would at least make reservations to the general vote of condemnation.

Representatives of 54 nations attended the morning session.

"The league is now faced by its second task," asserted Anthony Eden of England. "Action must be taken. I declare our full willingness to participate in that action."

Premier Pierre Laval of France also declared his nation's intention to meet its obligations under the covenant, but pledged himself to pursue at the same time a search for conciliation and a peaceful settlement of the conflict.

Spokesmen for Soviet Russia and other nations also threw their support to league action.

Silence Gave Approval

Baron Pompeo Aloisi, defending Italy's activities in Ethiopia, protested first against the procedure of letting silence indicate that delegates accepted application of sanctions.

Premier Mussolini's representative declared it was unfair to accept the policy that "silence meant consent as a method approving the council's condemnation of Italy."

Foreign Minister Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia replied that the steering committee had recommended the silence method.

Under it any nation which did not speak in opposition would be considered as acquiescing to sanctions, merely as a matter of convenience.

"There is no obstacle in the way of any delegate who wishes to state his government's position from the rostrum," Benes insisted.

Yesterday, both the Austrian and Hungarian delegates spoke openly of the "grave dangers" to Europe's economic equilibrium if such sanctions against Italy were undertaken.

Members of a major delegation, however, pointed out that a naval blockade could not be undertaken lightly, that the possibility of its developing into open war could not be overlooked.

The soil of Ethiopia is exceedingly fertile and agriculture is extensive.

shock and his injuries. He was reported to be in a very critical condition late today.

The elder brother, Frank, resides in West Brooklyn, where he has made his home since the grading operations on the West Brooklyn spur began early in the summer. He is survived by his widow and two small children, Maxine, aged four and Richard, aged three.

A brother, Emil, resides in Dixon. The death of Frank Strunk, is the second fatality to occur in the construction of the Brooklyn spur.

L. B. Kerschner, a truck operator, met a tragic death about a month ago when the truck he was operating, was struck by a train as he was returning to West Brooklyn from Walnut where he had spent the week-end with his family, his death being instantaneous.

Reports from the Harris hospital at Mendota at non today indicated that the condition of Paul Strunk was very critical and that little hope was entertained for his recovery. Should his death result the total of fatalities would reach three deaths in the construction of the one mile stretch of ten foot cement and gravel spur highway.

Boycott Result of Boosted Coal Price

Marion, Ill., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Approximately 40 small wagon trade coal mines were idle in Williamson county today as coal truckers launched a boycott in protest to a 25 cent per ton increase in the price of coal.

No violence was reported from any quarter but pickets were posted in all sections of the county where the small mines are located to dissuade truckers from moving coal at the increased price.

In the vicinity of Crab Orchard, east of here, it was estimated 200 empty trucks lined the highway where they had been stopped by pickets.

Confession—

Hauptmann reiterated he was innocent and held to his belief. Fisher said, "some court will find that out before it is too late."

Egbert Rosecrans, only member of defense counsel qualified to appear before the nation's highest court, laid the groundwork for the proposed appeal in arguing before the Court of Errors and Appeals that Hauptmann's constitutional rights under the fourteenth amendment were violated during his trial at Flemington.

The court overruled this contention in the same way it threw out all other defense arguments for a reversal when it handed down its unanimous decision.

Rosecrans declined to comment before studying the opinion, but Fisher said he told Hauptmann that "instead of the end, this is just the beginning of the battle."

LAX AND RELAX

By Joseph Fort Newton

"WHAT is the matter with us?" asks a thoughtful reader. "Why are we so restless, like cats on a hot griddle? Why are we so frantically active, boring ourselves to death to keep from being bored?"

"In the old days people could sit down and be still long enough to talk of men, events, books and the like. How little good talk one hears today; it is almost a lost art—and meditation is obsolete."

"No, we must always be going places, whether there is any reason to go or not, and doing things just to be doing something. All the new inventions quicken the pace of life, and it is a pace that kills."

Exactly, and the facts show that blood pressure and heart trouble have increased forty per cent in the last ten years. It is all the result of the increased physical strain and mental stress of our day.

What can we do about it? The trouble is in ourselves—if we are restless, going this way and that, dependent on external stimulus, it is because we have not learned the art of finding inner peace.

The old mystics talked of "peace at the center," and they told us how to find it. The new psychology helps us, offering a definite technique, if we master it, whereby we may learn to be quiet and rest.

We must begin at the beginning and learn the three R's, as children do in the first grade at school—Relax, Realize, Resolve. We must drill ourselves until we have command of body and mind.

We must consciously, deliberately, patiently learn to "let go," else life will become a live-wire and burn us up. It is amazing what one can do by just a little discipline, practicing the relaxing art.

When we have learned to let go, we must also realize—that is, realize that life is bigger, better and more beautiful than our hectic hurry; realize who we are, what life is and was meant to be for all.

In other words, we must tell ourselves the truth about life—affirm it, assert it, until it becomes real to us. Then we must quietly, firmly, deeply resolve to live from within outward. It can be done.

Mrs. Hutchinson spoke of the rummage sale held during the week and thanked the ladies for their wholehearted co-operation in making it such a financial success. Following the roll call and flower collection, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. W. C. McWethy, who talked on the Constitution, which is such a vital subject at this time.

Answers were given out to the members to be read when the questions were asked, which was very instructive, and everyone felt the time well spent.

LUCKY IS AMERICA TO IGNORE WAR FOR BASEBALL

Whatever else you may say about us Americans, you will have to admit that we are very lucky.
A good part of our luck consists of the Atlantic ocean, which is wide, rough and deep. By interposing some thousands of miles of watery waste between our continent and Europe, it cuts us off from the greatest headaches that afflict the old world. We may get some of the aftereffects or echoes of these headaches, but we don't get them right between the eyes the way the Europeans do.

A beautiful little example of our luck occurred on the day when Signor Mussolini called some 10,000,000 Italians together and made a warlike, blood-and-thunder speech to them.

This speech was transmitted across the seas and was re-broadcast in the United States by the national chains. It was in Italian, of course, and the American citizens, who sat at their radios to drink it in waited patiently for the gentleman to finish, so that studio commentators could read translations and let the people know what it was all about.

At last Mussolini got through, and the translators set to work.

But there was a speedy interruption. Up in Detroit a world series baseball game was about to begin. With harassed sighs, the broadcasters gave up their task, the radio stations climbed on to the Detroit hookup—and the fans got baseball instead of Mussolini.

To be sure, if the broadcasters had kept on with the speech instead of going to the ball park, the citizens would undoubtedly have torn their radios out by the roots. But that is just the point.

Here in America we can still feel that way. Mus- solini may be calling his people to war, the gray ships of the British fleet may be closing in on the sea lanes, the people of Europe may be watching the horizon with strained anxiety, waiting for the signs of approaching hurricane—but the Atlantic ocean is wide and deep, af- ter all, and we are on this side of it, and we can afford the luxury of putting the war threats out of our minds and listening to an afternoon of baseball.

Of course, a European war will have its effect on us, in one way or another. We are part of a world commu- nity, as we learned in 1917, and we can't hold ourselves entirely aloof. But we are not directly involved, even so.

We do not live under the tension that torments Europe. We do not have to wait breathless before our radios to hear some foreign dictator pronounce the words that will change the course of all our lives. We can cut him off, before we know what he said, and tune in on something else.

We are very, very lucky.

GOOD JUDGMENT IN DRIVING COUNTS

We have been learning about tests of time in which individuals react to traffic signals and act upon them. Such tests were carried on at the Illinois state fair, showing that about half the drivers should not undertake to drive in what are called the higher brackets of speed.

Now comes a report on a test of twenty-one drivers having subnormal reflexes, showing that by following a few simple rules they are among the safest of drivers.

These twenty-one drivers between ages of 19 and 48 drove over a test course of 80 miles between Toms River and Medford, N. J., under specifications that they should drive at an average speed of 40 miles an hour.

"Each driver examined traveled a distance equiva- lent to more than three times around the world, through town and country, without so much as a scratched fen- der," says the report.

Simple rules governing the test require—
Complete halt before crossing railroad tracks.
Speed of not more than 20 miles an hour through towns.

Speed of not more than 30 miles an hour around open curves.

A distance of at least 75 feet from the car ahead when traveling more than 30 miles an hour.

Diminished acceleration on down grades.

All turns or stops must be signalled.

Drivers are required to start working into the prop- er lane for a turn two blocks before the corner is reached.

Whereas the average reaction to the signal is in three-eighths to one-half a second, the average time for the drivers in this test was eleven-sixteenths of a second. It is the conclusion of those making the test that the driving of 75,000 miles by each man without mishap can be attributed only to following of the rules of safety.

THE TWYMITE

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The keeper of the dogs soon came in and Coppy shouted, with a grin, and said, "It really is a shame if all these dogs are scaring you. I'll stop the barking, now."

"They like small girls too well, I fear. They barked 'cause they are glad you're here." Then Doty said, "We're sorry if we caused this awful row."

"O. I am thinking, girls, of you. To me this barking is not new," the kindly fellow answered. Then he loudly shouted, "Stop!"

"You've made enough noise for one day. You'll drive these little girls away. Just wag your tails and to the bottom of your cages drop."

They all obeyed the man 'cept one. "Oh, he just thinks that bark- ing's fun," said Doty. "I will pat him. Maybe that will make him quit."

She reached right in and stroked his head, and Doty very shortly said, "Oh, gee, that surely tickled him. He seems real fond of it."

Just then the Tiny boys rushed in and Coppy shouted, with a grin, "We had fun on the ferris wheel, though it gave us a scare."

"As soon as we were in the car, it slowly took us way up far. The things down here looked very tiny from high in the air."

"And now, girls, come with us and you will see all of our hopes come true. We're headed for the pumpkin booth. You'll get a big surprise."

"One of the pumpkins we brought here will fill our farmer friend with cheer. It's won a ribbon 'cause it is the very largest size."

They rushed right to the pump- kin booth and found that Coppy told the truth. A judge stood by the farmer. Then a smile spread across his face.

"I'm just as pleased as I can be to pin this badge on you," said he. "One of your pumpkins is so big it wins for you first place."

(The farmer pulls a surprise on the Tinies in the next story.)

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE STORY OF JEREMIAH.
Text: Jeremiah 1:6-10; 26:8-15.
The International Uniform Sun- day School Lesson for Oct. 13.
BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Jeremiah one of the major prop- hets of Israel, lived in dark and untimely days. He was a prophet of realism who would not meet the plight of the nation with smooth or honey-combed words; but he was also a prophet of God who loved justice and truth, and a patri- ot who was too loyal to Israel to betray the nation with pretentious platitudes.

He struck right at the root of the things that had brought ruin and destruction, and, like all prop- hets who dare to emphasize un- pleasant truth, he was unpopular and persecuted.

Here in our lesson we have Jer- emiah in a scene that sets him be- side Moses in the hour of his call to a great task of leadership. "I am a child," he says, "I know not how to speak."

But there comes to him the same assurance that the Lord had given to Moses that he is not standing in his own strength, or speaking out of his own feebleness, but that strength and words shall be given him in the hour of need.

"Behold, I have put words in thy mouth."

The true prophets of God have not always fared better with the religious people in the community than with the populace at large. The priests and other leaders of the people in this case encouraged the hatred of Jeremiah and the violence against him.

"This man is worthy of death," they said, "for he hath prophesied against this city, as ye have heard with your ears."

To this Jeremiah replied that his mission and his words of prophecy have been from God, that if the nation would be loyal to its own ideals and best interests the people must amend their ways and doings, and obey the voice of God.

Jeremiah appears as a magnifi- cent figure, strong, uncompromis- ing, courageous, as he stands forth, the true patriot, denouncing the sins and evils that have trailed his nation in the dust, utterly regard- less of his own fate and gloriously without fear.

Can we fail to make adequate application of this lesson in the present crisis of our own nation?

Recently a woman passed from our midst greatly honored in every land and loved and admired by all who saw deeply into her character and service; yet this woman, Jane Addams, who loved her country and who was true to its ideals, though she was strong always in rebuking its evils, was almost to the day of her death denounced and vilified by certain people in our country as if she had been a criminal and a traitor.

How can we change such atti- tudes? How can we put true patri- otism and the role of the true lover of his country on the side of everything that makes for peace and order and welfare?

How can we bring both great and lowly to see that the real trea- son against society is found in ig- norant and selfish and prejudiced attitudes that defend the things that sap and destroy the life of the nation?

The role that Jeremiah played was unlovely, but it was neces- sary. We ought to have a higher regard for the social physician who dares to diagnose social diseases and apply the remedy.

Five Wedges Driven in Ethiopia

Five deep wedges are being driven into Ethiopian territory by the Italians to cut off munitions shipments and other aid from the bordering nations. The map shows the spearheads of attack. No. 1 is driven straight south from Eritrea through Aduwa. No. 2, also starting from Eritrea and based on Mt. Mussa Ali, cuts southwest and then swings south toward the important rail center of Dire Dawa. No. 3, out of Italian Somaliland, has brought occupation of Gerlogubi, to protect the flank of the troops advancing up the Webbe Shibli valley, and then is headed through difficult mountain country toward Jijiga and Harar. No. 4 army has occupied Dolo and is pushing westward to isolate Ethiopia from Kenya on the south. The No. 5 army is penetrating southward along the western border of Ethiopia to cut off contact by the main caravan route from Khartoum in the Sudan.

Going It Tooth and Nail

While his College of the Pacific gridders were giving an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth against Southern California at Los Angeles, Amos Alonzo Stagg, grand old man of football, was nervously munching his fingernails in anxiety over his charges' fate in the tray. All his nail-chewing went for naught, however, as the Trojans won, 19-7. Here's Stagg in action on the bench during the game.

Moslems Help Ethiopia Fight Foe

Among the barbaric tribes recruited in Addis Ababa and dispatched to the borders to defend Ethiopia against Italian invasion were fierce irregulars of the type shown above—Moslems from the interior of the country. Joining the native hordes mobilized by Haile Selassie, two typical armed warriors are pictured just before leaving for the Ogaden front.

COMPLETE JURY FOR ZENGE MURDER CASE TODAY

Accused Emasculation Killer Smiles as Death is Asked

Chicago, Oct. 10.—(AP).—Selection of a jury to try Mandeville W. Zenge, 26, Canton, Mo., carpenter for the mutilation-murder of Dr. Walter J. Bauer, his successful love rival, was completed today in the criminal court of Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty then began the opening statement for the prosecution.

BILLIOUS SPELLS QUICKLY ENDED SIX MONTHS AGO

Says Indo-Vin Brought Lasting Relief From Awful Dizzy Spells and Biliousness

MRS. J. R. MAYS, of 8045 12th St., Mt. Vernon, Ill., says: "I found LASTING relief from those awful dizzy spells and bilious attacks over SIX MONTHS AGO when I took Indo-Vin. Before that time my liver had been so badly disordered that I was ALWAYS feeling MRS. MAYS bilious and sluggish and was subject to blinding dizzy spells. My condition was awful, but when I started taking Indo-Vin all the trouble simply DISAPPEARED. I never feel bilious or sluggish any more, and those dizzy spells don't come over me like they used to. And the best part of it is that my trouble hasn't come back for OVER SIX MONTHS." Indo-Vin is now being sold here in Dixon at the Ford Hopkins Drug Store. Also by every good druggist throughout this whole section.

go to prison for an undetermined number of years, be sent to an asylum or go free, is composed largely of men of approximately his own age.

Smiling, and apparently unperturbed by the serious situation confronting him, the 26-year-old defendant sat unmoved as Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan qualified the final panel of veniremen for the death penalty.

Witnesses Ready
Dr. George F. O'Brien, coroner's physician, waited to take the stand as the state's first witness. His account of the emasculation operation performed upon Dr. Bauer was to be followed by the testimony of three witnesses who found Dr. Bauer, dying, in his automobile on Chicago's south side on July 31.

Prosecutors said the three, a newsboy and two gasoline station attendants, would identify Zenge positively as the man who drove Bauer's car into the station driveway and fled.

Mrs. Louise Shaffer Bauer, pretty 22-year-old widow of the victim and former sweetheart of Zenge, who married Bauer three days before she supposedly was to wed Zenge, was absent from court again today. The prosecutors said she would probably be present tomorrow or Monday, when she is expected to take the stand as a state's witness against her childhood sweetheart.

The state charges Zenge, disappointed at the loss of his sweetheart, planned and carried out the crude operation upon his successful rival. He is accused of kidnapping Dr. Bauer, professor of chemistry at the Kirkville (Mo.) college of osteopathy and surgery, from an Ann Arbor hotel on the night of July 30 and forcing him to drive to Chicago where the fatal operation was performed.

NINTH PORTRAIT OF RAINEY HUNG FOR SELECTION

Washington, Oct. 10.—(AP).—Another painting—the ninth—of the late Speaker Henry T. Rainey was placed today in the gallery from which members of the house library committee will select the portrait to hang in the speaker's lobby.

Miss Ruth E. Van Sant, Washington artist, painted the latest entry. It portrays the white-thatched speaker in a characteristic pose—standing beside a desk, his left arm thrust into a pocket, his flowing bow-tie prominent in the foreground.

A tenth entry in the gallery is Headed for War, Italians Jest

Like cadets on a lark rather than warriors headed for a grim battleground, these nattily-equipped Italian soldiers smile cheerfully as they bayonet "Emperor Haile Selassie" in effigy. They're part of a new, large contingent of Italian fighting men dispatched from Naples to the East African front where war is raging.

expected before the committee re-assembles.

Among the artists whose entries have been hung are Howard Chandler Christy of New York, Paul Trebilcock of Chicago and Hans Schlereth of Washington.

Representative Kent Keller, Ava, Illinois, Democrat, chairman of the committee which will make the selection, said today he was hopeful some means would be found to buy one of the better paintings, after the committee has made its selection, for hanging in the Illinois State House. The artist whose work is chosen for the national Capitol will receive $2,500.

CHIEF JUSTICE ADMITS DAUGHTER TO THE BAR

Precedent Established at Session of Illinois Supreme Court

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Today was diploma day in the Illinois Supreme Court with 383 persons admitted to the bar, but the highlight of the ceremonies was a family affair.

Because of the large class, the candidates were presented to the court in two sections, with two formal motions for admission of the groups. Making the motion for the second group was Hal M. Stone, a Bloomington attorney who learned his law at the University of Illinois.

Sitting on the bench above him, wearing the black gown of a justice of the high court and accepting the motion as Chief Justice was Clyde E. Stone of Peoria, Hal's brother, who went through law school with him.

Chief Justice's Daughter.
Among the students to rise and take the oath of attorney before the supreme court was a young woman, Miss Claudie E. Stone, who is the daughter of the chief justice. This is the first time in the long history of the state's highest court that a father ever administered the oath of attorney to his daughter.

Miss Stone's decision to become a lawyer and her work in the university was related by a beaming "proud papa" before the court session.

"The year after Claudie finished her preparatory school work she came to me and said: 'I'm going to be a lawyer and furthermore, I'm going to make Coif as you did.' (Coif is an honorary organization at the University of Illinois for Law College students who averaged a grade of 'A' during their college years. Usually 15 students are selected each year.)

"All right," I told her," Justice Stone said, "'You make Coif and I'll buy you a new car.' She drove here last night in the car."

SONS OF PRESIDENT ESCAPED NARROWLY

Boston, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Quick action by John Roosevelt, the president's youngest son, prevented serious injury to him and his brother, James, when his car crashed through a crossing gate and collided with an electric train. James was unhurt. John's left shoulder was bruised; his roadster was severely damaged. The two sons of the president were riding in John's roadster en route to the East Boston airport last night. James intended to take a plane to New York after visiting here. John was driving, police said.

As the car neared a crossing of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad, the gates were dropped for a Boston-bound train.

The Roosevelt car splintered one gate but John swerved to the right, bringing his car parallel to the train and heading in the same direction.

Simultaneously, William J. Norton, operator of the train, jammed on the brakes. As the train and the car collided the front steps of the first railroad car were torn off.

The train, continuing in motion, caught the car on the rear steps. When the train stopped, the roadster was wedged between it and a post. The car's engine was smashed; the left side was a mass of wrinkled steel.

GOVERNMENT TO BOOST POTATO PRICE AT ONCE

Planning Move to Make Living Cost More by Buying up Spuds

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Governor Horner called in some of the Democratic leaders of the legislature today to discuss the scope of and plans for the delayed first special session of the 59th General Assembly.

While part of his time has been taken up by a series of strikes in Illinois, the Governor hoped to be able to set a definite date for the convening of the session and to decide what issues, if any, other than social security should be included in the call.

Leut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan and Speaker John P. Devine were among the Democrats invited to dinner at the executive mansion.

November 5 was regarded as a probable date for the convening of the session, although it might be called for late October. Original plans were to bring the legislators back to Springfield before the end of September, but Horner has been delayed in his consideration of the hundred or more requests for legislative action.

Has Strike Troubles

Meanwhile the strike situation has consumed much of the governor's time, starting with his unsuccessful attempt to arbitrate the Chicago milk blockade and with the subsequent orders that highway police and sheriffs are to keep open the roads.

A five hour conference was held yesterday in an effort to settle the labor difficulties at the Hartford and Wood River plants of the International Shoe Company, where two factions of employees are in a dispute with the management.

Conferences have also been held regarding labor trouble at the Boss glove factory at Kewanee.

Another issue that may be placed before the legislative session has developed out of Attorney General Otto Kerner's ruling that bonds may not be sold under the Illinois "blue sky" law if they contain the word "gold." Kerner yesterday reiterated a previous opinion, saying:

"No security shall be sold or offered for sale containing the word 'gold' unless it is redeemable in gold."

Financial houses have claimed that the new amendment is more strict than the Federal regulations and should be removed.

Los Angeles Forges Its Links With Boulder Dam

Steadily the work goes forward of linking Los Angeles and its hinterland with Boulder Dam, the last activities that will bring victory to the coast in its long battle with the desert. At the left tractors are shown unwinding great drums of cable which will be strung on steel towers 800 to 1000 feet apart. Across 270 miles of mountains and deserts this slender thread has been spinning its way for two years toward the giant generators at the dam, to carry 275,000 volts that will furnish power and light to the Los Angeles section. At the right men are at work on the great skeleton of the Colorado river aqueduct. These huge conduits will carry a billion gallons of water a day to the thirsty cities.

OBITUARY

We know not what a day will bring forth. Life is very uncertain for in the midst of life we are in death. We know not the cause, all that we know is that "Les", as he was commonly called, fell from a scaffold unto to concrete driveway, a distance of about thirty-five feet, and was picked up dead. Why God permitted it we do not understand. There is so much of life that is wrapped in mystery but we have the promise that some day we will understand.

Leslie Almond Wentling, son of Jeremiah and Lavina Wentling, was born in Dixon, Illinois, November 8, 1906 and met, what seems to us, an untimely death, October 4, 1935, aged 28 years, 10 months and 27 days. He grew to manhood in our city and married Pearl Chesley who was a true and faithful companion to him. For the past five years, he worked at the carpenter trade.

Those who remain to mourn the loss are: The sorrow stricken wife; one daughter, Mary Ellen; the father, and one sister, Mrs. Edwin F. Hamill. A brother and sister and his devoted mother, preceded him to the spirit world.

The funeral was conducted from the Grace Evangelical church on Monday at 2 P. M. Rev. A. D. Shaffer, the pastor, had charge. The body was laid to rest in Woodside cemetery of Lee Center. The sympathy of the community was manifested by the large attendance at the services.

BIG NAMES WILL DOT BALLOTS IN COMING PRIMARY

Washington, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The 1936 ballots will carry a liberal sprinkling of "big names." For instance, so many nationally-known men will be in the running for senate seats, that the senatorial elections promise to be of unusual interest.

Whenever political minds take time out from mulling over the presidential campaign, they turn their attention to the senate.

The constitution says that one-third, or 32, of the senate's 96 seats must be filled every two years. Of the "constitutional 32" at stake next year, a dozen are now held by men who are veterans of at least ten years' service in the senate.

Included in this 12 are the leaders of both major parties—Joseph T. Robinson (D-Ark) and Charles McNary (R-Ore)—and the senate's dean in point of service—William E. Borah (R-Ida). Borah came here in 1907. In point of service, Robinson is tied for fifth place with George W. Norris, Nebraska Republican independent, whose seat also is at stake next year. McNary holds down No. 8 position.

Others in the senior first twelve and their service rankings are: Morris Sheppard (D-Tex.), of prohibition fame, tied for No. 4, Arthur Capper (R-Kans.), Pat Harrison (D-Miss.), and Henry W. Keyes, (R-NH), tied for No. 9; Carter Glass (D-Va.), No. 10; James Couzens (R-Mich.), No. 13; Jesse H. Metcalf (R-Ida), No. 15; and Thomas D. Schall (R-Minn.), No. 16.

In O-Mekon, East Siberia, where the usual temperature is 102 degrees below zero, water thrown from a bucket freezes solid before it touches the ground. O-Mekon is said to be the coldest place in the world.

The 18-year-old Maharajah of Gwalior, India, is reputed to be the second richest man in the world. His jewel chest has been appraised at $20,000,000.

Pride of Selassie's Army Parades Before Conflict

Pride of Emperor Haile Selassie's armies, the Imperial Guard here is shown in a great parade near Addis Ababa before leaving for the Ogaden front to face the Italian invaders. Throngs of natives watched the crack regiment as it marched by in the valley, behind which wooded slopes rose to meet the bare mountains far in the background.

WHAT THE NEWS WAS AROUND DIXON IN YEARS GONE BY

50 YEARS AGO

The Mosse murder case has been continued until the next term of circuit court which convenes on the first Monday of January. S. H. Bethea, attorney for the accused, filed a motion for a change of venue with Judge Brown this afternoon but withdrew the motion and was granted his request for a continuance.

The Mikado Opera company failed to appear in Dixon today for some unaccountable reason. The value of sheep killed by dogs in the vicinity of Amboy during the past 30 days is valued by the appraisers at $24.50.

25 YEARS AGO

Charles F. Nesbit of this city was awarded the contract for constructing the brick paving on Everett and Fellows streets.

10 YEARS AGO

Henry A. Boehme, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boehme, 402 Logan avenue, passed away yesterday afternoon.

FAT GIRLS GET THE GO-BY—SLIM GIRLS WIN MEN

Less Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation Diets, Harsh, Exhausting Sals or Weakness, Irritating, Hair-Forming Laxatives

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland is not working right. All the blood in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on "ugly fat." This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding this gland the substance it lacks—and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out this way.

Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same scientific method used by doctors. So don't waste your time or money, striving to reduce with methods that are hard, futile or depend on harmful, health-racking salts and laxatives for their action. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get Marmola today from druggists.

You'll find all of these values outstanding because A&P—the Specialist in Food Values for the past 76 years—have gone even further and specialized in wheat products in order to bring you the Ultimate in Food Values!

GOVERNOR ASKS LEADERS TO CON- FER ON SESSION

Speaker Devine One of Powers Summoned to Executive Mansion

Washington, Oct. 10—(AP)—With difficulties over compulsory tax-control of potatoes far from solved, an authoritative source disclosed today that the AAA is drafting a tentative plan to increase the price of the 1935 crop at once.

The tax-control law affects only potatoes harvested after December 1, 1935, and consequently would apply first to next year's production. This law would place a tax of three-fourths of a cent a pound on all potatoes sold in excess of a national allotment.

The plan to increase present potato prices, it was learned, calls for heavy purchases of late potatoes by the government for relief distribution. The purchase program would be placed in effect in connection with a marketing agreement for western states.

To Withhold Culls
The marketing agreement would be set up for producers in Colorado, Nebraska, Michigan, Wisconsin and other states in that area. The producers would agree to withhold from the market potatoes classed as "culls."

Then the AAA would buy from each producer from 10 to 20 per cent of his crop for distribution through the Federal surplus relief corporation. No estimate of the amount of potatoes which would be purchased under the program was available, but it was reported that the AAA believes a sufficient quantity would be bought to increase the price for the balance of the crop from 15 to 25 cents a bushel.

This buying program in the western states, together with the marketing agreement, it was said, would be expected to raise the price of all potatoes for the remainder of the year.

POETS' CORNER

"FORGOTTEN MAN"

We deplore the death of the NRA. It forces us back to the one-horse show.

To narrow road and no head lights. Going home early and staying in nights.

Horse and buggy, bob sled and sleigh.

It's a long way back to that obsolete day.

But men had courage, they bought and sold.

In that long ago when gold was gold.

Now it's debased, it's offered for sale.

It's put in its place, like hay in the bale.

It will do to fill teeth or solder a pot.

But, if it looks like money, beware: it's hot.

We are trying to build a better man.

One never forgotten if he follows our plan.

Then all will be equal there will not be a peer.

If the first law of nature don't interfere.

—H. W. F.

THE DUCK HUNTERS

It's just a shack with home-made bunks

And our wives think we are a bunch of lunks

We'll let them think what they degone please

We're staying tonight though we darn near freeze.

Now they don't understand and they never will.

But to us, by gosh, it's our greatest thrill.

We plant ourselves by that pond all night.

And watch and wait for the first sign of light.

We are up with the rooster and down in the blind.

We're so cold we are stiff but we don't mind.

It's the first day for ducks. That's why we're here.

And will always be down, year after year.

—KENT

It's Rough Sailing; but War's a Rough Game!

When Mars strides onto the set, King Neptune apparently plays a minor role; in this picturesque scene, a German war vessel, intent upon carrying out difficult maneuvers, dips its bow deep into giant waves, riding heedlessly the perilous, heavy seas. The torpedo-boat Ilitis is shown during recent German naval "war games" in the North Sea.

DAILY HEALTH

BREATHLESS LIFE

For the higher animals, breath and life are considered synonyms, and "he ceased to breathe" is tantamount to "he died."

The act of breathing is significant because of the body's constant need for oxygen, which it gains from the air taken into the lungs. But since it is oxygen the body needs, is there not some other way in which it might be served to the body, other than through the lungs and in the act of breathing?

The reader might well ask, "What for?"

Were we dealing only with individuals in sound health and with good lungs, the question might be a "stumper." For indeed, the lungs are efficient bellows that serve the body's needs. But man is "helpless," and in certain disease conditions there arises the problem of supplying the body an adequate amount of oxygen through a defective or partially nonoperating lung.

Under such conditions, it would be greatly helpful to be able to feed oxygen to the body through some channel other than the lungs.

Conditions in which this may be desirable and even life saving include surgery of the lungs, and of the chest wall, when of necessity respiration is handicapped. In broncho-pneumonia a goodly portion of the lungs may be thrown out of commission. Now we employ the oxygen tent in this condition, but in the severe forms of the disease a more direct method of oxygen feeding would prove even more beneficial.

To this quest for "a way around the lungs" there has been made in recent months a most interesting contribution. Dr. I. Singh reports that a dog has been kept alive for sixteen minutes without breathing oxygen through the lungs. The oxygen it required was "fed" it through a vein.

This experiment proves that, theoretically at least, it should be possible to supply an animal's oxygen needs in other ways than through the lungs.

MICHIGAN MAN ADMITS KILLING STEP-DAUGHTER

Drowned Children, Aged
2 and 6 "Just to Get Rid of Them"

Flint, Mich., Oct. 10—(AP)—Oakland county officers said today that a coroner's autopsy had confirmed Ferrin Rowland's confession to St. Louis police he drowned his two little stepdaughters in Muddy Boat Lake, near here three weeks ago "just to get rid of them."

Bodies of the children, Katherine Woodin, 6, and her two-year-old sister, Virginia, were found by searchers last night a few hours after the stepfather's capture and confession. The bodies had been trussed together with heavy wire and weighted with a plowshare, as he had told police he bound them, and then tipped them from a row-boat into 25 feet of water.

The coroner's examination bore out Rowland's statement to police that he left his Harrison, Mich., home with the children, ostensibly to place them in a children's home at Flint, but instead had taken them to the lonely lake.

Rowland insisted that his wife, now held in jail at Harrison without charge had no part in the slaying of the children, and said he told her he had placed them with a family at Flint for adoption.

Traced to St. Louis by letters he wrote his brother, Elmer, also detained by officers for questioning, the carpenter was captured by St. Louis police and Michigan officers who had traced him to a hotel there.

They said he attempted to shoot himself when they entered the room, but was overpowered before he could draw a pistol from his shirt.

Rowland waived extradition, and the Michigan officers left with him immediately.

The GOLDEN FEATHER

by Robert Bruce

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 JEAN DUNN, pretty, 21, is secretary to DONALD ROYAL, a lawyer. BOBBY WALLACE, a automobile salesman has frequently asked her to marry him but Jean delays her answer.
 At the Golden Feather night club she meets SANDY HARKINS who says he is to leave on business.
 LARRY GLENN, federal agent, warns Jean and Bobby against spending much time in places like the Golden Feather. Larry is trying to lure WINGY LEWIS, bank robber. He discusses the case with his friend MIKE HARRIS of the local police force.
 Jean goes for a horseback ride with Sandy. He sends her roses, takes her to lunch. She and Bobby go to the Golden Feather again. Sandy is there with MIKE and MISS LEWIS.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 CHAPTER VIII

MR. LEWIS, like his wife, seemed to be of a friendly disposition.

"All I've heard," he said, "since that other night, has been a lot of stuff about some beautiful mama with golden hair."

He sat slumped down in his chair and looked at Jean with sly impudence.

"Is that right, Sandy?" she asked.

"It's been worse than that, said Sandy lugubriously. "It's getting me down. I'm wasting away to a shadow."

"Too bad about you," she said lightly. "You look healthy enough."

The music stopped, and Bobby and Jean came back to the table. Bobby was duly introduced to Mr. Lewis, and as they sat down Jean discovered that her conscience was trying to make itself heard again.

"You were jealous when you saw Sandy with Eve, but you weren't jealous a bit when Bobby danced with her," said Conscience.

"I won't listen to you any longer," said Jean firmly.

A ripple of laughter greeted her as she emerged from this bit of self-communion. Bobby had just told some funny incident or other that had occurred that afternoon while he tried to sell an automobile to a pompous dowager.

Mr. Lewis looked at him with interest.

"So you sell autos, do you?" he asked.

"Well, I try to," said Bobby. "Mum. Who you with?"

"State Auto Sales, Incorporated."

"Uh. That's Mark Hopkins' agency, isn't it?"

"Yeah."

LEWIS stared at the drink while the waiter put in front of him, and held the glass cupped in his hand for a long time, studying it intently.

"Listen," he said to Bobby at last. "You and I might be able to do some business, one of these days."

Bobby leaned forward eagerly. "Yeah," went on Lewis. "I'm going to be needing a new car. Might as well let you sell it to me, I guess."

He yawned lazily.

"That'd be swell," said Bobby. Lewis continued to look at his glass.

"Trouble is," he said, "I got a little deal to put over, first. Bobby looked at him expectantly. Eve also turned to her husband.

"Now listen," she said, "let's not talk business here. We're supposed to be here for recreation tonight. Besides . . . Her voice trailed off uncertainly.

"Okay," said Lewis, good naturedly. "Tell you what, when we're ready to leave, let's all buzz out to our place for a couple minutes. Then you girls can fix

Frank Maier, Elliott Brenson and Arthur Ziebart returned from a ten day fishing trip to Wisconsin on Wednesday.

Leo Halmaier, a senior at the Amboy Township high school, won the essay in which members of the American history classes participated on Constitution Day.

The winning essay was as follows:

What the Constitution Really Is and What It Means to Me.

The Constitution of the United States is one of the most remarkable and valuable political documents ever devised by the genius of man. In it are embodied principles of a democratic government, so just and so unselfish as to have existed for centuries before only in the minds of dreamers. Wide reaching in its scope, its basic laws will rule this great united nation centuries after the framers of the Constitution have crumbled into dust. Though buffeted by unprincipled politicians, the Constitution remains firm and strong, like a great rock, a haven for those who would flee from the egoistic governments of the Old World. To me, as an American, it is something of which to be rightfully proud. To me, as a human being, it is a milestone in the upward evolution of man not indeed, the last or most perfect one, but one nevertheless, that will endure for centuries as an example of the innate justice of man.

Robins raise two broods of four to six young each year.

"You mean," Bobby said slowly, "it would amount to my buying these bonds for $10,000, selling them for $12,000 and pocketing the difference?"

up a little midnight lunch, and while you do Mr. Wallace and I can talk business. How about it?"

It was agreed, and the subject was dropped. There was more dancing, much gay conversation and joking, and at last Eve yawned elaborately and announced that it was getting late.

It was 10 o'clock. They left the night club and walked half a block to where a large, expensive sedan was parked by the curb. Lewis unlocked it and slipped in behind the wheel, and Jean wondered, vaguely, why he should be wanting a new car when he already owned such a fine one.

Fifteen minutes later they drew up before an ornate apartment hotel on the western side of town. He left the car at the curb, ushered them into the lobby and conducted them up to a sixth-floor suite.

They entered a roomy, well-furnished living room. Eve sank into an overstuffed chair and announced, "I'm too full to want any midnight lunch, and I bet all the rest of you are, too. Go ahead and talk business, if you want to."

Bobby found himself seated on a couch beside Lewis. Lewis lighted a cigar and said, "Well, it's like this. Your boss, Hopkins, has got a special job out there I want. It's a sedan, and he wants $10,000 for it."

Bobby gaped at him.

"I didn't know we had any jobs out there that cost that much," he said.

"This is a special job, I said," said Lewis. "Custom-built, and all. Anyhow, that's the car I want. Now listen."

HE crossed the room suddenly, went to a desk, unlocked a drawer and took out a long, bulky envelope. He brought this back and resumed his seat on the couch.

"In here," he said, hefting the envelope meditatively. "I've got some bonds. They have a face value of $14,500, and they're good as old wheat in the bin. But I've got to be careful what I do with 'em."

He looked at Bobby.

"I got these," he said, "from a friend of mine in Chicago, in settlement for a debt. As I say, they're worth a hundred cents on the dollar, anywhere. But here's the catch. This friend of mine is in politics, out in Chi, and he got the bonds from a bird who runs a string of dog-racing tracks and such around that neck of the woods."

"The deal was perfectly o. k., but since then the dog track man has got into a jam with the county grand jury and they're investigating all of his deals. Now, the trouble is this: those bonds are registered, and if they once turn up anywhere they can be traced right back to him. And you see, it would look bad for this politician friend of mine if it should become known that he had got them from this bird who is in such a jam."

He tapped Bobby's knee with the envelope.

"You know how it is," he said. "Everything was all right—only it would look bad. It'd be poison, in fact, plain poison, as far as my friend is concerned. He just don't dare have these bonds come to light until this blows over. That's why he let 'em go to me at a discount, and that's why I've got to do the same thing, because I don't want to market them at a bank or broker's office in the

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

THREE-EYED LIVING FOSSIL

CRAWLING over the almost inaccessible, rocky islands off the coast of New Zealand are small lizard-like creatures that scientists consider "living fossils"—the only surviving representatives of the Age of Reptiles, some 150,000,000 years ago.

Tuatara is what the Maoris of New Zealand call it the name denoting the spiny characteristic of its skin. On its forehead is a third, or pineal, eye, which is more highly developed than other third eyes found in similar creatures. But back of that eye is a brain that is hardly larger than a pea.

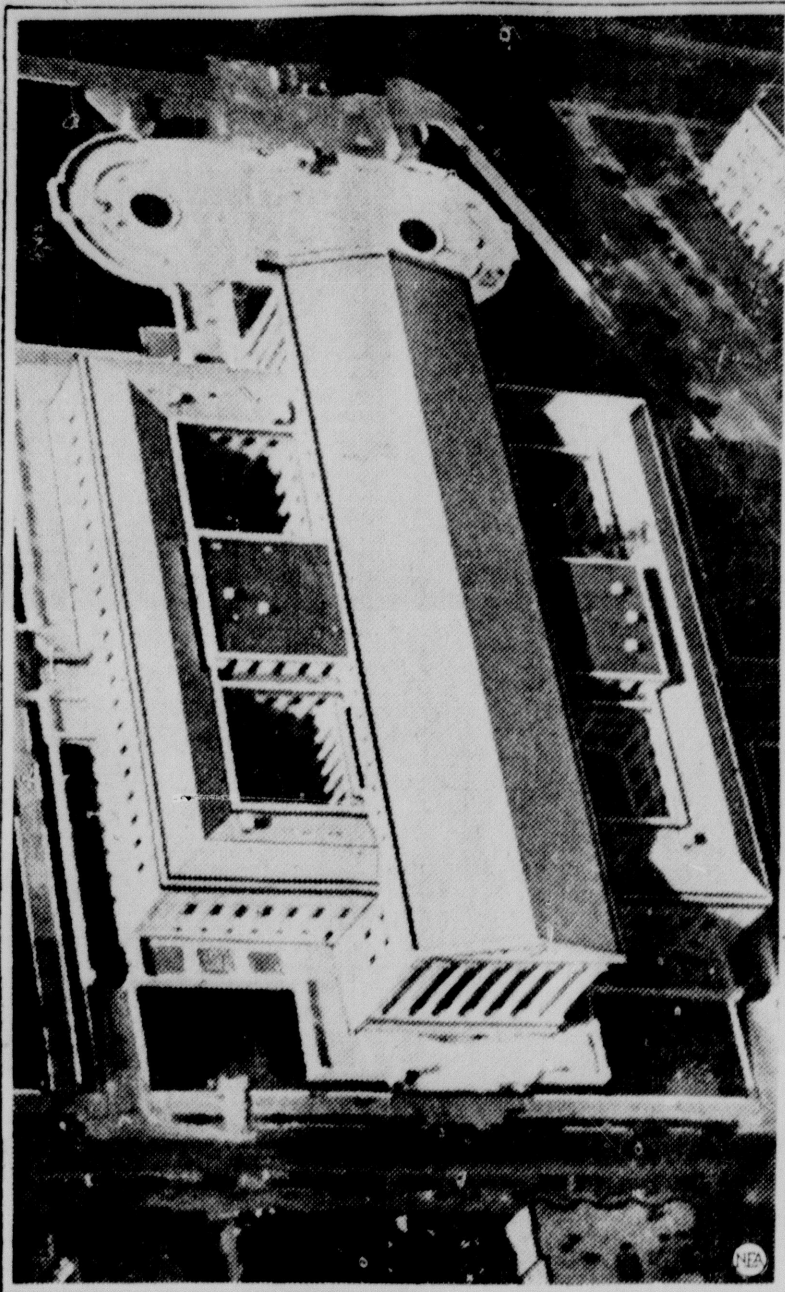

When Captain Cook brought the pig to New Zealand and let it roam wild, the tuatara was almost entirely exterminated. Now the few remaining examples are under protection of the government.

One of New Zealand's latest series of stamps, the 8-penny value, illustrates this last remnant of reptilian creatures that once ruled the earth by their might.

Each of the justices will have a suite of offices looking out on one of the four marble interior courts, pictured above, in which splashing fountains reflect dazzling white walls.

police Wednesday morning the loss of about $250 worth of samples from his car which he had parked last evening on Ottawa avenue in front of the Black Hawk hotel. Investigation by police disclosed the fact that the left front door of the sedan had been pried open and the samples of men's and women's leather and wool gloves and clothing removed. The salesman examined his car at 10:20 o'clock and told police that all of his samples were intact and the doors locked. Next morning about 7:30, he discovered the car had been opened and the contents ransacked and the larger number of his samples stolen. A similar robbery occurred in Dixon last spring when a salesman's car was entered and considerable clothing taken.

BANISH COAL PILE DRUDGERY!

It may be necessary to shovel coal at times and for some people—but it isn't necessary for you to shovel coal in your basement all day long—nor need your wife have this unpleasant task after you have gone for the day.

A Fairbanks-Morse Automatic Coal Stoker relieves you and your family of stoking duties. Simply fill the hopper of this stoker at night and you will have automatic regulation of heat all the next day—without attention on your part.

A big saving in fuel, too—often as much as 45%. Easy payments enable you to have your stoker while paying no obligation in getting the facts. Phone 0000.
